supprecedented success has crowned the efforts of the past few months. Five vessels have been seized, tried and condemned by the courts. One slaver has been taken on the coast of Africa with about 200 negroes on board, who were conveyed to the Republic of Liberia. One person has been convicted at New-York as the captain of a slaver, having on board 800 captives, and two others (mates of a different vessel), and another one at Boston for fitting out a vessel for the slave-trade. In the first-named case the penalty is death; in the others it is fine and imprisonment. Hitherto, convictions under the laws prohibiting the African slave-trade have been very rare. This is probably the largest number ever obtained, and certainly the only ones for many years. It is believed that the first-mentioned case is the only one involving capital punishment in which a conviction has been effected.

The full execution of the laws in these instances will no doubt have a most salutary influence indeterring others from the commission of like offenses.
